Demos Boost Leaders

Delegations Named To Austin, Dallas Conclaves

Milam County Democrats Saturday night commended President Johnson and other Texas Democratic leaders in four resolutions, supported the unit rule for convention delegations and named two delegations to Austin and Dallas conventions.

Max McClaren, chairman of the Milam Democratic Executive Committee, also reported that the 71-delegate County Convention, meeting in Milam District Courtroom, resolved to support Democratic nominees at all levels in the 1968 general election.

McClaren was re-elected permanent chairman and Lawrence Zolt of Cameron permanent secretary, both by unanimous vote.

Three committees met to review credentials, resolutions and delegations while McClaren led a discussion on ideas on the democratic process, including:

The possibility of going to the precinct method of nominating and electing the U.S. president and vice president, an alternative to the old Electoral College and convention methods.

John Henderson Sr. of Cameron suggested that Supreme Court judges be selected by popular vote rather than by appointment. And R. T. Delahunt pointed out the problems of crossing party lines, which McClaren said is subject to a fine up to $500 under new election codes.

Resolutions adopted by the convention commended President Johnson, Senator Ralph Yarborough, Cong. W. R. Poage and Governor John Connally, who is to be Texas delegation chairman to the National Democratic Convention.

McClaren reported that convention delegates also voted for a resolution supporting law enforcement officials in their efforts to keep order and urging citizens to respect the principles of law and order throughout the country.

Delegates named to the Dallas convention are: G. R. Varner, Emory C. Camp, Mrs. Theilmann Scaff, H. H. Coffield, Mrs. Dorothy Gause, W. P. Hogan and Dan Kubiak.

Delegates named to the Austin convention are: Max McClaren, chairman; Gordon Baskin, Mrs. Dorothy Gause, Howard Chisico, G. R. Varner, H. H. Coffield and Dan Kubiak.

SCHOOL NAMES 1ST ASSISTANT NEW HEADCOACH

First Assistant coach of Yoe High School has been hired to succeed Coach Ken Fuqua, who announced his retirement from coaching to enter business in Houston earlier this spring.

Hal Stanislaw, 27, will take the head coaching position this summer.

A native of Rockdale, Stanislaw has five years experience as an assistant football coach and head track coach in three other schools.

He has coached as a football assistant and head track mentor at Duncanville one year, as first assistant and track coach at Littlefield for two years, and as assistant football and head track coach at Weatherford for a year.

He served as first assistant football coach this year under Fuqua. Stanislaw was employed by School Board action last week during a regular CISD Thursday meeting.

Supt. D. R. Dodson said Stanislaw's was the only hiring of personnel Thursday night and that the board discussed general school policy and problems at length during an otherwise light agenda.

Stanislaw received a BS degree in physical education in 1963 from Texas Christian University. He graduated from Rockdale High School in 1959, earning recognition as an all-state line backer. He competed in all RHS sports.

He is married and has two children, Casey, 5, and Julie, 18 months. His wife, Willyne, is also a native of Rockdale. And she is continuing her education at Mary Hardin-Baylor, Belton.

Cloudbursts Loose Creeks

The 4.07 inches of rain deluged land in creek bottoms and sent Little River out a few hours, but "generally assured Milam County a bumper maize crop."

So said County Agent J. D. Moore after reviewing results of the heavy rains that sent Elm Creek, Pond Creek and other minor tributaries beyond their banks last weekend.

It contrasted with mid-April of 1967 when Moore wrote that pastures looked more like those in mid-August than in mid-April.

The total rainfall of Milam County up to April, 1967 was 2.43 inches. This week, Moore said most of the water went into the ground. "Corn," he wrote, "should benefit greatly by the rains. Forage crops for beef and dairy cattle were given a boost also by the rains as well as permanent and temporary pastures."

He said streams did not come out on the Gene Angell and Earnest Dodd places.

Heaviest rains fell in the early morning hours last Friday, during which about three inches fell in

CITY SEEKS DIRECTOR FOR SUMMER REC

A summer City Recreation program, budgeted by the city council in March, still awaits applicants for a director.

The program, originally set to open June 3, was to be the first city-wide program for summer recreation, outside of boys' baseball, in about 10 years.

The directors post would pay $100 weekly for an eight or ten week season.

Use of school playgrounds was approved by the Cameron School Board. The director would be responsible for working out a program of games, softball and summer activities for school children of all ages, both boys and girls.

J. P. Fuller, city secretary, said the city is also seeking a manager for the Cameron Swimming Pool.

Cameron and Milam areas.

Moore said the rains were needed to "run" the soil back together for ideal conditions for the feeder roots. Before the rain came, the top soil was crumbling as a result of wet soils during land preparation and planting.

Average rainfall during the first quarter of the year is about 9 inches.

Abilene Christian Signs Chandler

Abilene Christian College landed one of Texas' top schoolboy mile prospects Tuesday when Coach Bill McClure got the signature of Cameron's Paul Chandler on a letter of intent.

Chandler won the Class AA state mile championship with a time of 4:23.2. He posted his best mark of 4:18.9 in the "Little State Meet" at Corpus Christi, a time which ranked as the fourth best overall in the state.

The 5-11, 150-pounder was twice district and regional mile champ and also ran on Cameron's mile relay team.

Chandler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Chandler of 1407 N. Jackson in Cameron, plans to major in Biology at ACC.

With F.M.L.

Those Noon Lions (now that we have Evening Lions Club) are conducting an annual light bulb sale for a scholarship fund 4 p.m. Tuesday through dusk downtown and house-to-house.

Bernay Dusek, the man who told us about the program, which means up to a $500 scholarship for some Yoe youngster, said no special bulbs would be available this time.

Was asked in the absence of Monroe Fuchs, current Cameron Public Library president, to accept in the library's behalf a bronze plaque-embell from the H. M.S. Cameron (USS Welles) which was sunk during a World War II bombing in Portsmouth, England, harbour, raised, then officially scuttled in 1943.

Cameron Rotary organized a presentation ceremony in 1930 during which a British consul from Houston, a U.S. Navy captain, born in Milam County, and a Royal Navy officer made the presentation.

It was held in Yoe Stadium, broadcast over Temple radio, and lines made available as a public service by the phone company and radio station.

The plaque was presented Wednesday at an assembly by John McLerran, YHS student body president, for placement in the handsome Cameron Library, which it will be.

109 received the bronze plaque, teted it to the Library and a book on the four-stack destroyers of which HMS Cameron was one. People who know say there is also a bell from the old destroyer and a ship's log. We'll hunt those.

109-109-109

Bill Burns, Rotary president in 1950, among other Rotary leaders of the time, said Cameron residents sent cigars, candy and other items to the crewmen of HMS Cameron after formal liaison was established by the City of Cameron and the ship Cameron.

It suffered after the bombing, became an inactive ship where certain types of British naval trials were held. In 1943, the ship was taken to deep water and scuttled, ending her World War II service. The bombing in 1941 presaged her death.

Mrs. Louis Ellev presented the program for the day, "Growing, Grooming, Showing, African Violets". She exhibited a large variety of plants and at the close of her program gave each a specimen to encourage growing African violets.

Mrs. Ellev stressed that the plant is comparatively easy to grow. For a starting medium, she suggests a mixture of equal parts of perlite and vermiculite. For watering and feeding about every five days, a 15-30-12 fertilizer, high in phosphorus content to promote blooms, is used one half strength. The spraying method may be used for watering.

Light is the most important factor and 12 to 14 hours per day are needed, preferably west exposure, screened by partly closing the blinds. For a most attractive plant, each plant should have only one crown and Mrs. Ellev demonstrated.

Central Texas Flowing By

It is a shame to watch, year after year, the washouts and the hundreds of thousands of dollars damage in the long-proposed, now modified Elm Creek Watershed.

Daily press reports damage to $200,000 in the Elm Creek area approximately between Temple and Cameron.

We understand the Elm Creek Watershed has been reduced in size and somewhat reshaped to conform more to the interests of those deriving more benefit from its success in water control.

But even those on the fringe of the old Watershed must cringe when they see aerial photos of immense overflow and the predictable loss in topsoil, bridges, fences, newly planted crops and nausium.

"There but for the Grace of God goes my topsoil" many a progressive farmer might say, while such periodic inundation passes by.

Soil conservation experts can calculate these costs, not merely to those with direct loss, but to the fringe operators whose loss is indirect: such as those roadways and bridges, such as gaping cuts which can redirect the flow of water and widen the damage areas.

Elm Creek Watershed had difficulties because of previous size. But if ever those within the new boundaries and those now without them need reminding, just look down Elm Creek some May morning and watch part of Central Texas flow by

A Loss

With the demise of The Reporter magazine, the United States loses a valuable tool for knowledge. Since 1919 this magazine, under the editorship of Dr. Max Ascoli, has made an outstanding contribution to America's understanding of the world, and, often enough, of America's own internal problems. This contribution, needed as sorely today as ever in the past, will be greatly missed.

Articles in The Reporter had a way of being serious without being solemn. Such articles had become skillful in discussing world and domestic problems in terms of human interest and personal example. Writers, to choose but a handful, such as Douglass Cater, Denis Warner, and Edmond Taylor (writing from Washington, Southeast Asia, and France) reported with insight and authority.

Although it had a circulation of 210,000, The Reporter never made money. It thus fell victim, after 19 years of being subsidized, to that strange and tragic malady which has killed so many worthy American publications since the war — more outgo than income.

If it is true, as one report said, that the magazine's difficulties were increased by subscribers and advertisers withdrawing their support over its support of President Johnson on Vietnam, this would be a sad commentary on American intolerance. Today we all need to read the other fellow's opinion. It may even teach us something.

Special Session, Runoff Top Questions In Capitol

By Vera Sanford

AUSTIN — Presently there are two major topics of speculation in capitol corridors:

1. When will Gov. John Connally call the legislature into special session?
2. Who will win the gubernatorial runoff race — Conservative Preston Smith or Liberal Don Yarborough?

As for Item 1, Gov. Connally must call the lawmakers back to the capitol by mid-June at the latest to pass a 1969 budget and a new tax bill ranging in the $125 million a year bracket. Congressional approval of the 10 percent federal income tax surcharge may drive the state tax requirement even higher. This because a reduction in income will affect the sales tax revenue in Texas.

Legislators mention June 4, 10 and 11 as probable starting dates. Rumors were widespread at last week's Legislative Budget Board meeting that Connally was considering calling the session before the June 1 runoff election.

LI Gov. Preston Smith told reporters that he feels it will be "difficult" for the legislature to pass a major tax bill in a 30-day special session, starting cold.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman W. S. Heatly of Paducah noted that never before have lawmakers been called to pass a complete general appropriations bill in a bottled session. He said he would like to start his committee to work unofficially on budget proposals even before the session begins, in hope of meeting the deadline.

As if the legislature did not have its hands full with financial matters, liquor by the drink advocates are urging Connally to submit that red hot issue to the special session. Passage of a May 4 referendum favoring mixed drink sales by a narrow margin added impetus for early consideration by legislators.

Smith and key lawmakers feel that the referendum was not conclusive enough numerically to be of any great benefit in winning legislative approval of mixed drink sales.

As for Item 2, Smith and Yarborough now are engaged in a runoff battle to determine who will be the Democratic candidate for governor of Texas.

Yarborough led by 36,000 votes in the first primary. But Smith quickly picked up the wholehearted endorsements of third place candidate Waggoner Carr and fifth place runner Eugene Locke.

Classic liberal-conservative lines are drawn in the Yarborough-Smith clash. Researchers contend that continuing disinterest and a light turnout on June 1 could prove disastrous to Smith.

Republican gubernatorial nominee Paul Eggers, who won hands down in a tight GOP primary, plans a serious, well-financed general election campaign against the winner of the Yarborough-Smith runoff.

Ben Barnes won the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor over two opponents, State Rep. D. Gladden and former Rep. Gene Smith, both of Fort Worth. Barnes' near-record majority (exceeding 75 percent) means that he will be a key figure in the state government during the next two years.

District Judges Tom Reavley of Austin and Sears McGee of Houston are new justices-elect of the State Supreme Court. They won Democratic nomination and are opposed by Republicans.

VETERAN DPS CHIEF DIES
Col. Homer Garrison Jr., 66, Texas' top police officer and head of the vast Department of Public Safety for 30 years, died of cancer. All of the state's highest officials joined in mourning his loss.

"He was one of the most capable and effective law enforcement administrators in America," said Gov. Connally. "Under his leadership, the Texas Department of Public Safety has become recognized throughout the nation as a symbol of law and order. Its reputation will live as a personal tribute to Colonel Garrison."

Wilson E. Speir is serving as acting director of DPS.

COURTS SPEAK

U.S. Supreme Court has postponed a suit which would require the State of Colorado to meet the obligations of downstream discharges from the Rio Grande as long as the state meets compact requirements for supplying water to Texas and New Mexico. Suit can be resumed any time Colorado fails to comply.

State Supreme Court upheld a $44,000 damage verdict favoring a Jefferson County woman who claimed she suffered back injuries when a 200-pound bill collector for a loan company pushed her against a wall by forcing open a door. Over-zealous collector came to collect a car note.

High Court set June 12 for review of an insurance company's claim that it is not obligated to pay on its bond covering a building contractor for concrete sold directly to the owner of a new apartment complex that's under construction.

Travis County 12th District Court continued its temporary injunction against the Liquor Control Board enforcing the ban on cash sales in private bottle clubs. Case will be heard in July.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I have been following the presidential nomination races in every newspaper that turns up out here and have failed to find a single candidate who's making any special play for the farm vote, and I think I've figured out why.

The trouble with us farmers is there aren't enough of us to be counted a major voting bloc anymore, but there're still too many of us to be called a disadvantaged minority group. So, nobody pays any attention to us. The steps to my back porch can collapse and you won't hear a voice raised in protest.

Obviously, there's too much city-ism and not enough farm-ism in this guilt-ridden country.

On top of that, there are people who're trying to make it even harder on the farmer.

Only last night I read an article agitating for more laws making it illegal for anybody to sell anything below his cost. It's unfair compe-dition, the argument goes, for a big outfit to sell a few items below cost to lure customers away from small outfits that can't afford the practice.

Maybe so. I don't know about that, that's out of my field, but have you ever stopped to think what this would do to farmers and ranchers?

You pass a bill saying it's against the law for me to sell a crop for less than it cost me to produce and it'll put me out of business.

Farmers have got to fight this movement with all they've got. It'd wreck American agriculture. It's had enough to work all year long a crop and sell it for less than it cost, but not to be able to sell it at all would be disastrous.

I sometimes think what this country needs is a law limiting the number of laws that can be passed.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION BACKS TOWER

Milam County Republicans held the party's county convention at the courthouse on Saturday evening and elected delegates to the GOP state convention next month and also passed two resolutions during the one-hour session.

GOP County Chairman J. Estel Johnston of Rockdale was elected permanent chairman of the convention, and Jack Tumlinson of Cameron was named secretary.

Named to fill Milam County's quota of two delegates and alternates to the state convention were Johnston and James E. Luckey, GOP vice chairman, as delegates, and Tumlinson and Charlie Burmore of Rockdale as alternates. Johnston will head the delegation to the state convention, to be held June 11 in Corpus Christi.

The convention passed a resolution endorsing Senator John Tower as a favorite son candidate for President and instructing the Texas delegates to the Republican National convention at Miami Beach, Fla., this summer to vote for him until released by him.

It also passed a resolution adopting the unit rule for the Milam delegation to the state meet in Corpus Christi.

Cong. Poage Sees No Need For Federal 'Commission On Hunger'

Chairman W. R. Poage, of the House Committee on Agriculture, declared that the type of legislative inquiry into hunger in the United States which his committee is continually conducting is far more effective than a Presidential Commission.

Commenting on a proposal offered by 14 Congressmen calling for establishment of such a commission, Poage said studies conducted by the legislative branch of government were much more likely to obtain an unbiased picture.

Such commissions can get into the headlines but accomplish little, he added, for they not only consume much time in their organization and in their investigations but still must depend upon the congressional committees and the Congress to get their recommendations into effect.

He pointed to a widely-publicized report on hunger issued recently by a non-federal group known as "The Citizens Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States." It listed 256 so-called "hunger counties" in 25 states and criticized the Dept. of Agriculture for the manner in which it has handled free food distribution and congressional committees which authorized and appropriated for these programs.

Discussing that he has written the health officers of each of the 25 counties involved, Poage said that with responses already in from one-third of the number and with replies still coming in, there has been no case of actual starvation reported but numerous instances of malnutrition. With few exceptions, these were blamed on ignorance on the part of parents as to what foods constituted a balanced diet.

There were repeated suggestions that education was the answer to the problem. Repeated time and again, also, were the observations of officials in these counties that many people preferred to remain on relief rolls with a limited food supply than accept jobs which were available.

77 REPLIES IN

As of May 9 77 replies have come in since the letters went out April 27 — about one-third of the counties named in the report, he said. Replies are still coming in daily. Most are signed by medical doctors serving as health officers.

Rep. Milton Schiller and family

Sincerely,

some by other county authorities. In several instances there was the notation that, to the best of their knowledge, no one representing a citizens board of inquiry had ever contacted anyone in their county to determine nutritional conditions there.

"I want to help every person who needs help, and I know that there are lots of folks who are too old or too sick to work," said Poage. "I want to help these people, but I don't want the Congress to be stampeded into action on the basis of inaccurate information."

"Clearly, the so-called Citizens' Committee was created for the purpose of developing hysteria without any regard for the facts. I just don't like the idea of deciding what someone wants to establish and then naming a commission to find conditions justifying its own creation."

I don't like the idea of using commissions appointed by the Executive to influence the legislative branch of government. I believe in our Constitutional division of powers. I believe that the legislative branch is presently doing a pretty good job. If anyone knows of any facts which should be presented to Congress we will welcome them before our committee and I am sure other committees will do likewise.

NO NEED TO SPEND $$$

"There is simply no need of spending a million dollars to review the work of this headline-seeking group which has made such a fantastic report."

"Last year when the same group asked our committee approval of a third system of food distribution we asked the Dept. of Agriculture if they had the authority to feed any hungry people they found. They replied they had the authority. We then asked if they had the funds. They replied they had the needed funds."

"As I see it, the proposed commission would do no more than spend public money with no better result than to get momentary publicity for a few members. Then like all other commissions, it would seek renewal, and finally its voluminous reports would be filed, unopened, unwept and unnoticed."

DOORS OF YOE

By Jane Callaway

Last week was full of activity—the end of school always brings a lot of "goings and doings." It was a fun week, I thought.

The Seniors were all put on the block — auction block, that is — and sold to the highest bidder. The bidding went as high as $7.50. Now, that's some price! I'll have to give you a report on costumes after Slave Day. For the few who might read this and not know what I'm talking about — we (Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors) get to bid on the Seniors and buy them. We can dress them any way we want to for the day that they are our "Slaves" and make them do whatever we want. Jane B., are you ready?

We had the Fort Hood Band performing for us. They were good. After this assembly, The American Heritage Club had a meeting. We decided to have supper at the Texan on May 29. Our Club's president for next year will be Patricia Stroup, and the vice president will be Danny Matula.

We had our Yoe Day Assembly on Wednesday. Carolyn Mitchell, Georgeanna Anderson, Diann Tumlinson, Dorothy Bright and Johnny McLertan participated. I know we all realize just how much Mr. and Mrs. Yoe did for us — for our whole community. Be proud of Yoe High School! Thursday was Yoe Day. I hope you saw the three flower wreaths our schools placed at the Yoe graves after a ceremony there on Thursday morning. Every student was given the opportunity to participate in the buying of the flowers.

HemisFair was better (or worse) last Friday. Our Seniors descended there in full force. We should have heard the alarm clocks that morning because they were boarding the buses at six. From all the reports, they made a good choice when they decided on this trip. Deandra, why were you in such a hurry to get off the bus? And Ralph, do you really get scared when you watch Thriller? I want to congratulate the chaperones — Miss Rosson, Mr. Johns, Mrs. Foster and Coach Siler — you made it there and BACK.

Patricia, I should tell you that I found out cars can't run without gas. Carolyn and I were glad to see you, Douglas.

One more week of school before exams start, then the midnight oil will be burning. Funny thing about this time of the year, many of us get to thinking we can cram it all into our brains at the last minute when we know it is impossible.

What makes a Pontiac a Pontiac?

(And what makes ordinary cars ordinary?)

Only Pontiacs have Wide-Track. Drive a Pontiac and you'll wonder who took all the bumps and curves out of the road.

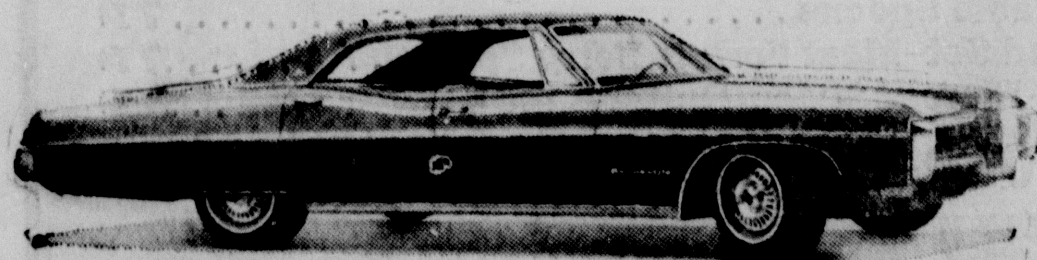

Even our lowest priced Pontiac has a unique 175-hp Overhead Cam Six. Unless you count cylinders you'll swear it's a V-8.

Pontiac interiors make you glad you left home — soft Morrokide and simulated wood trim so real only a termite can tell it isn't.

Innovations like GTO's Bumper-of-the-Year make Pontiacs look expensive. But record sales prove we know how to price them, too.

THE GREAT WIDE-TRACK DRIVE IS ON!

See your Pontiac dealer. He's out to smash sales records for the 7th straight year!

General Farm Act Extension Asked By Poage's Bill

The House Committee on Agriculture, by a 28 to 5 vote, approved last week a bill providing for a straight one-year extension of the 1965 General Farm Act which is now scheduled to expire on December 31, 1969.

Action came after committee members generally agreed that with a new administration and a new Congress in prospect next year it would be difficult to get action on legislation before late in 1969 if at all.

The measure (H.R. 17126) was introduced by Committee Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Tex., after committee members informally reviewed among themselves testimony which had been received during March and April from numerous witnesses at public hearings.

"The bill we have approved, extending for one year the existing farm law, is a compromise which we hope will be enacted," said Chairman Poage.

"Some of the members favored a bill which would put the present law on a continuing basis. I favored that position. Some wanted it extended for a specific period but for more than one year. There were a number of amendments which various members would have liked to have seen adopted. We realized that if we had opened the measure up to changes that undoubtedly no bill could have been passed."

"Since testimony at our hearings indicated that many farmers urgently need to know as soon as possible what kind of program they could count on in regard to planning their 1970 operations, we decided to back the one-year extension."

Poage expressed hope the measure could be considered by the House Rules Committee as soon as possible and that it could receive early action in the House.

"Outdoors USA", the latest yearbook of agriculture, is a made-to-order guide to vacations in the United States.

Americans seeking new travel opportunities will find this book a valuable guide to the vast recreational resources of rural America.

Among these travel targets is the world's largest outdoor playground, the 136 million acres of the national forests and national grasslands. Last year this "playground" provided around 153 million visitor days of use for recreation purposes. The national forests have more than 7,000 camp and picnic grounds, able to accommodate half a million people at a time.

Outdoor recreational resources in rural America also include fishing, boating, and swimming in water sheds, river basins, and farm ponds. More than 42,000 farmers and ranchers now use parts of their land for income - producing recreation. Last year, three-fourths of the small watershed plans completed with USDA help included among their goals recreation and fish and wildlife habitat, as well as flood prevention and municipal water benefits. About 750 watersheds have been authorized for development since 1960.

The "Outdoors USA" yearbook describes in words and pictures—including photos in full color—many of these recreational opportunities.

Providing recreation is one of the key uses of our vast natural resources, and plays an important role in new economic opportunities for farmers and rural America generally.

Besides recreation, the yearbook is also concerned with conservation, natural beauty, and maintaining quality of the environment.

The 408-page "Outdoors USA" yearbook, illustrated with 267 photographs, may be obtained for $2.75 from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Treatment Now For Cattle Grubs Means Extra Money On Sale Day

COLLEGE STATION
Treatment now for cattle grubs can mean extra money in your pocket on sale day, Weldon H. Newton, Extension entomologist with Texas A&M University says.

In most areas of the state heel fly activity has ceased and this is a sign of the start of the cattle grub cycle, the specialist says.

It is best to apply systems in this critical time before the young grubs can do their damage to meat and hide of slaughter animals. Various formulations of Ruelene, Corral, and Neguvon can be applied as either dips, sprays, or backline pour-ons.

Ronnel can be administered as free choice block or granular mineral mix to range animals. Rid-Ezy granules and Trolene-FM feed mix can be mixed into animals' rations. Some of these materials will also control horn flies, lice, and ticks when used properly, Newton continues.

Not only do grubs damage the meat and hide, but they compete with the animal for vital nutrients. Adult flies can cause cattle fleeing from the bothersome pest to lose energy and weight.

The cattle grub is the larval stage of the bee-like heel fly which annoys cattle during late winter and early spring each year. The flies live only a few days after emerging from their tough pupal case to deposit eggs on the hair of cattle.

About seven or eight weeks after the larva have hatched, they work their way into the back area where they will cut holes in the hide and form "warbles" before falling to the ground to complete their life cycle.

The costs of grubs in cattle are high. Warbles must be trimmed from the meat and thus grubby slaughter animals are frequently docked. Holes downgrade the value of hides for leather use, Newton adds.

Local Jersey Rated High By Cattle Club

A registered Jersey cow owned by J. K. Stuart of Cameron has been rated a Tested Dam by The American Jersey Cattle Club. The distinction was awarded Signal Fillipal Actress for having three offspring with official production records.

The cow's progeny averaged 19.50 lbs. milk and 499 lbs. butterfat on twice-daily milking, 305-day mature equivalent basis. The records were made under one of the programs of official testing of The American Jersey Cattle Club, with its national headquarters located in Columbus, Ohio.

Maize Crop Gets Boost From Rain

By J. D. Moore

The rains almost assure a good maize crop. Even though sub-soil moisture was adequate, the good rains were needed to "run" the soil back together for ideal conditions for the feeder roots. Most of the plant food for the maize plant is taken up by the lateral roots. Before the rain came, the top soil was crumbly as a result of wet soils during land preparation and planting.

Why it pays to control early-season cotton insects

Here's why it pays you to apply only 4 to 8 ounces of Malathion ULV* Concentrate to achieve ultra-low-volume control of thrips, fleahoppers and leafhoppers:

- gets cotton off to a fast start
- cotton fruits faster
- produces a larger, higher quality, early yield

This year, use Malathion ULV Concentrate, the only insecticide registered for ultra-low-volume control of early-season insects.

Place your order with your dealer today, and arrange with your aerial applicator to apply it. Before using any pesticide, stop and read the label.

INSTANT INSURANCE

Step Number One, after you buy a car, is to buy insurance. But it might take the insurance company several days — or even several weeks — to consider your application. In the meantime, the company may give you a "binder" for temporary protection.

How good is a binder? Does it really protect you in case of an accident?

Generally speaking, a court will indeed enforce a binder—even an oral one (although that kind is harder for you to prove). While a binder lacks most of the details to be found in a formal insurance policy, the courts are willing to read in what is missing—provided that can be done with reasonable accuracy.

Consider this case: A motorist was involved in an accident shortly after taking out a binder for "10-1" liability coverage. In a court test, this was held to mean that the man had coverage of $10,000 for each accident and $10,000 for each injury—because that is how such a phrase would ordinarily be understood in the insurance business.

On the other hand, your binder probably will not stand up in court if it leaves some essential fact in real doubt. Omitting the amount of coverage, or the type, or the term, could mean that a court would have to use guesswork to figure out what the parties had in mind. Then, the binder would lack that "meeting of the minds" necessary to constitute a legal contract.

Furthermore, a binder, just like a formal insurance policy, may be cancelled in most states if it was obtained by false representations. In one case a motorist, applying for a binder, was asked if he had had any traffic violations in the preceding three years. His answer was "No."

But after he had a collision, the insurance company found out that his answer should have been "Yes." In fact, his record showed no less than five moving violations in the three-year period.

Result: no insurance protection. As the judge put it, his deception was "material to the risk"—that is, important enough for the insurance company to have turned down his application if it had known the truth.
